GET TO KNOW STUDENT AFFAIRS

Meet Network Support

The Network Support department ensures that all areas in Student Affairs are equipped with technology and software that is necessary for everyday functions. The network support team prioritizes the solutions to any problems while maintaining systems up to date. The work done in their office assists staff to focus on helping students with necessary resources in ways that are accessible whether in-person or virtually. Services range from network infrastructure operations, desktop support, server-side applications, security roles, and many other various IT applications. Although we are housed in Student Affairs, our role has been to operationalize the "One U" mission by supporting partner areas that are located within common locations. Our metrics are aligned with the two Big Goals of Student Success and Viability of the institution.

While communicating through masks and limits on in-person contact has kept us physically separated, we have been reminded to not take our customers and clients for granted. It will be great to have some in-person interaction, and be able to show our level of service ability in person. We are also looking forward to the new season of The Mandalorian!

EMPLOYEE SPOTLIGHT

HAYDEN WATERS

Meet Hayden! Hayden is the Senior Network Administrator supporting Student Affairs, Enrollment Management, and parts of OGE. Hayden has been with network support for the past 11 years; he has experience in the private sector as the director of information technology for an international banking institution but was seeking to work in an environment where he could invest his skillset in the greater good so he came to the U. During his time with network support, Hayden has had the opportunity to gain an in-depth understanding of new technology while receiving insight into leadership and information technology skills. One of the proudest moments for Hayden happened during this past year when he worked cohesively with campus technology groups to solve pressing issues of working remotely. At that time, Hayden and others collaborated to discover solutions that made working remotely a possibility. A piece of advice he shares for all new hires is to focus on the daily things while finding some time to be involved with the campus community; each person has a unique story to tell, which means listening helps learn from their trials, successes, and failures. This year, he is looking forward to in-person interactions, such as seeing someone smile as he helps them through a situation. One of the missing pieces during the pandemic was a genuine feeling of emotions experienced when interacting in person.

Work-Study & Student Job Fair
