EDPS 2600 – Strategies for College Success Pre and Post (Fall 2012 & Spring 2013)

Brief description of project:
The purpose of the three credit Educational Psychology 2600 class is to assist students in developing and improving academic and life skills that will promote effective transitions into the university environment, greater academic success, and higher retention rates. The course emphasizes topics such as personal awareness, time management, critical thinking, reading and note taking skills, test taking, goal setting, diversity awareness, stress management, and wellness. The course is taught by graduate student instructors from the Educational Psychology Department.

Who was asked to complete survey:
All students who enrolled in the EDPS 2600 Strategies for College Success course in Fall 2012 and Spring 2013 were asked to complete the survey. Students received an e-mail with the link to the survey in the first few weeks of the semester and during the last few weeks of the semester. Instructors reminded students to complete the survey and awarded them class points upon completion.
