Prize: $1,200 Award
(awarded Fall Semester 2019)
At the time of application, the candidate must be a full-time (12+ credit hours), matriculated undergraduate who has completed 30 credit hours at the University of Utah and must enroll fulltime at the University of Utah Fall Semester 2019.

The primary objective of Phi Kappa Phi is the promotion of superior scholarship in all fields of study at the University. The Scholar of Promise award aims to encourage and support students of high academic achievement. The amount of the award is $1,200 which may be used for education-related expenses at the University. Each winner must enroll as a fulltime undergraduate student at the University of Utah in Fall Semester 2019 during which the award will be given.

Note that winners of this prestigious award need not be members of Phi Kappa Phi.

Applicants should submit the following:

1. Application cover page (attached).

2. A brief personal statement describing your educational and career goals and the most significant personal factors that have influenced your decision to pursue an undergraduate degree. Explain how you show “promise in scholarship.” Discuss how you plan to utilize the diverse educational opportunities offered by the University to make a substantial contribution to your community during and following your University education. Be sure to consider educational experiences outside the classroom (for example, undergraduate research, internships, service learning, etc.) as well as formal classroom experience. Your personal statement should be limited to 500 words or fewer.

3. Two letters of recommendation from university professors with whom you have studied, or other persons having knowledge of your academic potential and who can attest to your scholastic ability, motivation, discipline and initiative. In order to ensure confidentiality, these letters must be submitted in sealed signed envelopes.

4. An OFFICIAL ACADEMIC TRANSCRIPT.

5. Required: an overall undergraduate GPA of at least 3.5 and 30 credit hours completed at the University of Utah.

Deadline is March 8, 2019
